

Crompton House School Presents

#CHSFamilyReads

World Book Day is approaching, and this year, celebrations will be mainly virtual. We all know how great reading is for us, especially now we are spending more time at home. So this year we want to include the whole of our CHS community as well as students in a virtual celebration....yes that's you! Mums, dads, grandmas, grandads, carers, brothers, sisters, aunts and uncles etc and share with our students that adults love reading too!

Here's what to do from 22nd February:

1. Take a photo of yourself or a family member reading a book, or an E Book on Sora. It can be you reading with or to a family member.
2. Include one adjective to describe the book e.g. This book is awesome!
3. Tweet your photograph with the #CHSFamilyReads to @Clearingzone #WorldBookDay (children always check with an adult for social media)
4. If you don't have Twitter email the photo to c.cullen@crompton-house.org

We will

- Create a school display of all the great photos.
- All photos will be entered into a prize draw.
- Three winners will be picked from three categories, student, teacher and community on World Book Day Thursday 4th March. Winning entries will receive a £10 book voucher!

Happy Reading! Mrs Cullen – Learning Zone Manager

We are kicking off the campaign with a photo of Mr Pacey, Assistant Headteacher, Head of English and of course avid reader!

Mr Pacey's adjective for his book Gulliver's Travels is

'Insightful'
