

YEAR 13 English Literature 2023-2024 AUTUMN TERM
‘An ambitious curriculum that meets the needs of all’
Medium Term Planning – Topics:

Paper One: NEA, Shakespeare’s Othello, revision and development

Paper Two: NEA, Regeneration, revision and development

Curriculum Intent

In addition to developing the skills and knowledge listed below, we aim to give all students access to a wide range of high-quality texts in order to develop their language and communication skills, as well as their cultural capital and empathy to allow them to be fulfilled in their future lives and employment and contribute positively to society. We aim to foster a love of reading for all students so that they read widely and often.

This unit builds upon students’ understanding and reflection on close reading based upon the skills of analysis from year 12.

Pupils will be taught to read and reflect upon the role of language and methods in shaping meaning by:

- reading texts from the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries across the course and two papers

Skills / National Curriculum Links

- reading a wide range of high-quality and challenging non-fiction articles on context and literary criticism

Students will be taught to understand and critically evaluate texts through:

- reading in different ways for different purposes, summarising ideas and information, and evaluating their usefulness for particular purposes.
- drawing on knowledge of the purpose, audience for and context of the writing (AO3), including its social, historical and cultural context and the literary tradition to which it belongs, to inform evaluation.
- identifying and interpreting themes, ideas and information.
- seeking evidence in the text to support a point of view, including justifying inferences with evidence.
- analysing a writer's choice of vocabulary, form, grammatical and structural features, and evaluating their effectiveness and impact.
- making critical comparisons, referring to the contexts, themes, style of texts, and drawing on knowledge and skills from wider reading.
- making an informed personal response, recognising that other responses to a text are possible and evaluating these.

Students will be taught to write accurately, fluently, effectively and at length for pleasure and information through:

- adapting their writing to explore linguistic issues in an accessible way
- selecting and organising ideas and key points, and citing evidence, details and quotation effectively and pertinently for support and emphasis.
- selecting, and using judiciously, vocabulary, grammar, form, and structural and organisational features to reflect audience, purpose and context, and using Standard English where appropriate.

Students will be taught to revise, edit and proof-read through:

- reflecting on whether their draft achieves the intended impact.
- restructuring their writing, and amending its grammar and vocabulary to improve coherence, consistency, clarity and overall effectiveness.
- paying attention to the accuracy and effectiveness of grammar, punctuation and spelling.

Students will be taught to consolidate and build on their knowledge of grammar and vocabulary through:

- studying their effectiveness and impact in the texts they read.
- drawing on new vocabulary and grammatical constructions from their reading and using these consciously in their writing.
- Comparing how texts present information in different ways – based on perspectives and social, historical and technological contexts.
- critically analysing some of the differences between spoken and written language, including differences associated with formal and informal registers and evaluating academic research in these areas
- using linguistic terminology accurately and confidently in discussing the different genres of drama, prose and poetry

Students will be taught to speak confidently, audibly and effectively through:

- using and evaluating the use of Standard English when the context requires it.
- listening to and building on the contributions of others, asking questions to clarify and inform, and challenging courteously when necessary.
- planning for different purposes and audiences, including selecting and organising information and ideas effectively and persuasively for formal spoken presentations.

Current learning to be developed in the future within:	Interleaved learning is outlined in the long-term scheme and shows how content is revisited to ensure it is remembered.
Assessment	Impact will be measured through a range of formative and summative assessments and support will be put in to place when teachers judge that students are not fulfilling their potential. Our aim is to ensure all students perform to the best of their ability and are ready for the next stage of their education or career by the end of the A Level course. Refer to assessment maps and calendar for formative and summative assessment opportunities.
Impact	Attainment and Progress – Refer to assessment results / data review documentation. They will also be equipped to write a convincing academic argument and be able to independently examine/analyse a range of texts in detail. They will also be confident when using academic texts and critical sources.
